July Membership Meeting

Twelve members met at the Brass Pointe Restaurant in Farmington Hills on Wednesday, July 14th. Following a casual dinner and conversations, President Teresa Klotz started the meeting off with the recognition of new members in attendance. They were Michael Daquano, Al Jacobson and Stephen & Karen Talbot.

The focus of the meeting was an open discussion of any restoration or maintenance projects that could be of interest to members. We first red E-Type some day soon.

We also discussed the replacement process of an XK8 radio, throttle position sensor and convertible top hydraulic lines as well as the sources for the parts. Questions and discussion also occurred on various other topics including paint-less dent repair, stone chip repair and touch up paint matching. Recommendations were also given for service providers. Other topics included various ceramic coating products and their application, and curb rash rim repair and refinishing that can be done at your location and also while the rim is on your car.

The meeting broke up about 8:30 PM. The format was both informative and heard about the five-year restoration process on Al's E-Type, and the issue regarding his replacement windshield sourced from England. He shared his experiences with body, paint and interior work. The cars' engine is going in soon, so we could perhaps see his useful and was helpful to those in attendance. We should do this more frequently and incorporate the information into our Service Directory to share these experiences with our membership.

the President's Purr...

Are we having fun yet??? You bet your sweet Jaguar we're having fun...and there's a lot more fun times coming.

I hope you all had a chance to take a stroll at the COA Saturday July 24th and Sunday July 25th in Plymouth and see all the incredible cars and exhibits. I think I've picked out my next top 5 cars and trucks. It was an incredible turnout.

Until next we meet...

Teresa

30th Mad Dogs and Englishmen Car Faire

With eyes on the skies and weather forecasters foreseeing a 90 percent chance of rain on Sunday, July 11th, the faithful contemplated their journey to Hickory Corners for the annual Mad Dogs British car show. By Sunday morning the forecasters had and stayed down. No one appeared wet and the crowd was actively viewing the cars on display. Hot dogs and soft drinks at the outdoor dining area at the Diner were popular as people took a break from car viewing.

At 3:30 PM the participant-based judging results were announced. JAGM members Howard Richards and Lori Moulton received third place in tough competition in the Class O (Jaguar 4-door 1998 to present) for their 2007 XJ8. This is the second award they have received at Mad Dogs for that car. And our newest members, Stephen and Karen Talbot, received third-place in Class K (Jaguar 2-door 1976 to present) for their 2021 F-Type R. And Lee Jacobson received the "People's Choice" award for his 1939 MG.

reduced the chances of rain into the mid-twenty percent level. The skies were overcast and something more like a mist was on and off during the day. One could spot some umbrellas in the crowd occasionally. And a few drop-top cars kept their tops up, but most were down

Who knows, maybe next year we will get the return of the sunny 90-plus temperature and humidity sweat-box conditions.

2021 Summer Drive

Robert Burns, an eighteenth century Scottish poet and lyricist, once famously said "The best-laid plans of mice and men often go awry".

Eleven JAGM members met for breakfast on Friday, July 25rd at the IHOP Restaurant in Monroe, MI at 8:30 AM. A few minutes after we stepped inside the restaurant, a women approached us and said, "just so you know, I am the assistant manager and the only one here today, so I am the cook, the waiter, and also working the carryout counter - so it may take me longer than normal to get you served". My heart sank. What a way to start our drive. But within a few minutes our lead scouts had crossed through the parking lot to the adjacent Cracker Barrel and had arranged a table for us. Ah, nearly back on track.

As we left Cracker Barrel the rain started and would be with us about half the day and it was very heavy at times. As we worked our way around Toledo, we encountered a railroad crossing blocked by a train. It was only a short time before the train cleared the crossing and we were off again. Within a few miles we encountered another railroad crossing, this time with three converging tracks and two trains blocking our route. After a wasted hour waiting and hoping to stay on our route, we took an alternate route and got back on track deeper into Ohio. Construction, a route change to put us back on schedule and navigation snafu's challenged us - but eventually we made our way to Logan in time for our dinner reservations at the Old Dutch Restaurant. With the cloudy night skies in Logan, our visit to the John Glenn Astronomy Park was canceled.

Saturday morning was perfect - sunny and warm. And the convertible tops came down. Our spirits were lifted, and we headed out on our drive around Hocking Hills State Park. This diamond-shaped route is Car and Drivers "go to" automobile fitness center. They claim that it exercises a car the way a racetrack does, but run-off room is scant - which we can attest to. According to Car and Driver, this route is maybe the best in the world this side of Nürburgring - a race track located in Nürburg, Germany. It did not disappoint us.

Next we drove a couple of hours east-north-east to Cumberland, where "The Wilds" is located. The roads were equally enjoyable with smooth twisty-turns everywhere and elevation changes that sometimes felt like being on a roller-coaster. Very nice motoring.

At The Wilds we had a few cold drinks and a snack before we boarded the open-air bus for our Safari tour. The Wilds is the largest wildlife conservation center in North American. It contains about 10,000 acres of land and about ten miles of very bumpy roads. While there we missed an Ostrich laying an egg by minutes (it was still wet), but we did witness the recovery of the egg by Animal Management (to keep her from pecking and cracking it). An interesting fact: the most dangerous animal at the Wilds is not the Cheetah, which can accelerate to 70 mph for short bursts. The most dangerous animal is the Painted Dog. They hunt in packs of eight or so, and use a tag-team method. Two dogs will aggressively chase the target, leaving the others to follow at a slower pace - conserving their energy. Then the lead dogs change out and the hunt continues. Their success rate is about eighty percent. Cheetahs, and most other predators, average around a fifty percent success rate.

On Sunday, we drove from Cambridge northwest to Mansfield. The roads were still very nice, but were becoming less elevated and twisty. We arrived a little after mid-day at The Ohio State Reformatory. There we took the "Hollywood meets History" tour. It was a large group and everyone was issued a one-way radio and disposable ear buds so all could hear the tour guide. That seemed to work well.

The prison had been closed since 1990. It was purchased from the state by the Mansfield Reformatory Preservation Society (MRPS) at auction for a bid of $1, which they gave back to MRPS as their first donation. The condition of the facility is poor with peeling paint everywhere. The MRPS's current plans are to restore the administrative and living areas only. The very large Romanesque style building would have been torn down in the mid-1990's except for the movie industry's interest in using it for films. The Shawshank Redemption, Air Force One (Russian prison scenes) and a few lesser known movies were filmed there. We saw a number of the movie sets that were used in the two most prominent movies.

On Monday, we drove from Mansfield northwest to Toledo. In Toledo we stopped for lunch at Tony Packo's original restaurant. Tony Packo's journey to fame started in 1972 when Burt Reynolds stopped by for lunch and signed a "hot dog bun" when asked for his autograph. The restaurant was "put on the map" in 1976 when mentioned in six "MASH" TV episodes.

On balance, we had a great time despite Friday's rain, trains and other strange things.

British Car Corral

Sunday, July 18th was a sunny and warm day, with afternoon temps reaching mid-80's. Our attendance at this third British Car Corral at Bakers' was up substantially from our prior two events. And so was the attendance in general as Bakers' was packed with great cars and lots of foot traffic.

versed in July.

It was a great sight to see many members with their cars there talking with the public and sharing their passion for Jaguars. Let's keep the momentum up for the August and September events at Baker's of Milford.

Phil Crutchfield

I lost count somewhat during the afternoon as we shuffled cars around and eventually had most of the British cars parked in one area. We did have in excess of twenty British cars there. I counted five E-Types, one XK150, one XJS, one F-Type R, one XE and a number of XK8's in the mix. Last month the non-Jaguar British cars in attendance exceed the Jaguars. That trend re-
